In the film, Wozniak is shown wishing that HP did not accept the product so that he and Jobs could develop it and sell it independently. When spectators realized, the real Jobs appeared on stage and started playing with Wyle. It's a movie about the creation of the first personal computer, this idea came from two friends: Steve Jobs, Steve Wozniak, Apple's creators, the same idea came from Bill Gates, Paul Allen and Steve Ballmer, Creators Microsoft. They decide to settle in a place to settle in their project and take over the garage of Steve's house. The central history of the film starts at the beginning of DA © 1970 and ends in 1985, with a toast to Steve Jobs's birthday, shortly before he was fired from Apple Computer for his partner John Sculley. I tried to make each scene based on real events, including fantastic and significant moments, such as Bill Gates tractor races in the middle of the night and Steve Jobs putting the bits on the table during the job interview candidate. But according to his biography, Wozniak tried to convince HP to accept his design, but they even refused. The film is considered as a biography not authorized from the tense relationship between Microsoft and Apple. à € œWoz Pirates of the Valley of Silitium on Internet Movie Database. See also the triumph of the nerds (1996), a documentary on the ascend of personal computers. The soundtrack consisting mainly of classical rock and music disco from the 70s and 80's. This film documents the beginning of personal computers through the rivalry between Apple Computer (Apple II, Apple Lisa and Apple Macintosh) and Microsoft (Mits Altair , IBM PC and Windows). But Steve never agreed to be the second in the project.
